“ I will ALWAYS love Cheryl! Not a day goes by that I don't think of her because she and I were immediately best friends when we finally met on the first day of the school year. We had both thought that the other one was in high school and were quite surprised when we learned the truth. I've never, before or after that day, had a friend like her. So often I find myself thinking "I can't wait to tell Cheryl about this," and then I remember that's no longer an option. I didn't know how long grief could last, so I looked into it and learned there is no time limit for grieving. When I learned she was gone I sobbed harder than I ever had. Cheryl was amazing and my very best friend ever!! I miss her so very much every single day!
