Now she is no longer in pain but rests peacefully with her heavenly family. She has touched several people's lives and is loved by many. She never gave up hope to have all her family together. She loved her children so much and always wanted the best for them. She never met a stranger cause she was friendly to everyone she met. She had even taken people under her wing that began calling her mom. Her demise was quick and unexpected she passed away October 30, 2013. She would not want anyone to cry for her because she is now resting in heaven. No more pain, no more stress, no more heartache!
