“ Jaime was my best friend and we went through a lot yes we had fights but always there for each other. I'm still heart broken with her death. It hasn't been the same we were friends for over 10 years She will always have a part of my heart even tho her family didn't like me you didn't know a lot about what she went through she was angry on how you judged me but she couldn't say nothing there are things she told me that truly hurt her when she was alive None of her wishes were made for when she died that she wanted me to do I made her a promise what hurt most I wasn't invited to her funeral but my friend jaime will always be in my heart and memories Took me over a year for my anger to ease but my grief wont
