“ I worked with Keith at the Tri-State Airport back in 2002, 03, 04. He was working for a car rental company. Keith talked about maybe trying to get on at Marathon as a river boat pilot or deck hand. He was always so funny and we had a lot of great laughs in between flights. He helped me move furniture and boxed into a new apartment when it was 7 degrees and never once complained. He was great man with infectious smile and laughter.
