*Our family loved Raymond so much. I'll never forget the story that my sister Carolyn shared with me how they met.
It was love at first sight or both of them. It's a love that you never seen before reminded me of the Movie notebook! I'll never forget it a little girl I had a crush on him I thought he was so handsome.
I was so lucky to have him as a brother-in-law. And my sister have him as a wonderful husband.
Very caring, loving, thoughtful
Loyal to his wife and family
He provided to them 100%
With all his loyalty, and he worked hard for what he got for food and clothes for his family and even shared his house with those needed.
He was always working on his car every day. That's what he did to keep busy. He loved it.
We go on a picnic to Spurlock
Land That he had to take care of when I was younger.
He had fun with his children and love them so much.
If he had more he would give more, but he gave what he had, and he believed in the Lord so much he would preach it to me when we would talk on the phone
I love talking to him on the phone and yes, he always talked about the army all the time, and World War II
He was proud of what he was in the army. And proud to have served his country.
I was proud to have him as part of my life with my sister Carolyn.
They are now together in heaven, holding hands, dancing, laughing, being together and love
God bless him both.
I love you, Raymond and Carolyn and I miss you both so much with all my heart
You have two wonderful girls, Becky and Jennifer and Raymond Lee, your son. Al Love you both so much and provided for you
Becky and Jennifer every year would celebrate both of your birthdays.
There's so much to say about Raymond and Carolyn.
But it would cause too much room lol
To lovebirds Doves 🕊️🕊️*

“ My daddy was the most sweetest, kindest, tender man you would ever meet.. He gave to others his whole life. He never let anyone or any stray animal go hungry. He would give the shirt off his back. We did not have much growing up, but he would always make sure our necessities were met. He was a great handyman. His faith was strong. He made sure his family knew the teachings of the lord. He was genuine and the real deal. He loved serving the lord. He was so proud to have served his country and talked about being a veteran all the time. He could make a joke up at anytime and make you laugh. He was an intelligent man. He loved history . He loved to take us on road trips when we were little and stop and give us history lessons along the way. He kept me always wanting to see the world and its beauty. His life was built around his family. He was family strong. I will miss all the memories we made and the fun times we had. He was the best little daddy a girl could ever have. Now he can celebrate his 90 birthday in heaven with the love of his life, his wife. I will love you forever daddy. Love your daughter, Rebecca.
