Brother Jackson was the eldest of the late William Jackson and Fleta Jackson Morris. He received his education at Douglass High School and later received his bachelor's degree from West Virginia State University. He committed his life to the Lord at an early age and as an adult, in 1948, joined the First Baptist Church of Huntington, WV, where he maintained his membership. In 1940, Brother Jackson was united in marriage with Elsie Morton and they maintained their union until her death in 1994. From this union, this couple had three children. He was inducted into the United States Army in 1942 and served his country during World War II. He taught for many years at Douglass High School, Fairfield School, and East High School before his final retirement in 1985. He also retired from Appalachian Electric Power Company where he had worked for many years. Long after his retirement, he continued to be the sole proprietor of Jackson's Printing Shop and printed his final invitations in 1994. Brother Jackson was an active member of the American Legion in Huntington, WV., past Potentate of the Abdul Temple #133 of Huntington, WV., Alexander Freeman Lodge #20, and past Worthy Patron of Evergreen Chapter Order of Eastern Star, Chapter #43. He remained faithful and active to these organizations until the time of his illness and the need to relocate to Columbus, OH, where he was well respected and cherished by the other residents as well as the staff. “ I worked with Bill at the VA. He was kind and patient as he taught me his expertise in histology. We laughed and he would tell me stories. I truly enjoyed being with Bill. He loved his wife and family more than anything. He will be missed by all who knew him. My deepest sympathy, Dallas “Dee Dee’ Martin Hughey.
